

Super heavy bullet sinker is now available.

The high-density tungsten is squeezed into a small shape for greater flying distance and rapid sinking. It works in heavy Carolina on open water, punching into the floating mat, you name it. Go after rock fish in the ocean to see the true value of this sinker.

■ Material: Heavy metal, tungsten

The compact size reduces water resistance to accelerate the falling speed. Extremely hard Heavy Shot conducts what comes in contact to you very well, letting you sense what is on the bottom.

■ Design:

Center-balancing and rounded tip will help penetrate through thick floating mat. Since Heavy Shot hardly gets tangled in roots, it makes a fantastic heavy Carolina sinker.

■ High-density Nylon Line Hole

The thicker line hole has a nylon part inside, helping to protect the line, including thicker ones and PE. Highly compatible with worms and sinker stoppers.

■ Active Dimple

The dimple that holds the eyelet is an active type, which raises the hook upright upon hooking, helping to pierce the upper mouth of the bass. With a sinker stopper, the eyelet stays in the dimple, close to the worm, helping to slip through obstacles.

■ Color

By using matte brown, we eliminated the characteristic glare of tungsten. It will help finicky bass let their guard down.
