

High-Performance Offset Hook with Meticulous Care on Details. The Best Match to Rib Worms.

Bellows Hook is Zappu's first offset hook, developed to work with rib worms such as Bellows Series (Geecrack). Fluorine coating reduces resistance at hooking. Refined design in each part makes outstanding hooking possible as well as extending the life of a worm and securing it in place.

Our search drove us to the standard design resulting in this offset hook that can handle every kind of worm.

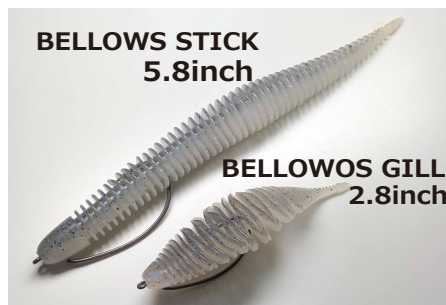

The hook point is designed to align with the worm's length. The added fluorine coating brings exceptional hooking.

The crank is designed to firmly hold any straight or bulky worm.

Fluorine Coating

- The hook sets parallel with a rib worm to reduce tearing and help the worm last longer.
- The extra length from the crank to the line eye is designed to hold the worm better, preventing it from sliding off.
