

Micro vibration to entice cunning bass! The hook specialized for the hot method "Shot Wacky."

"Shot Wacky" was invented by a super loco angler, which spread nationally on SNS as the rig that brings results. This rig was born by stabbing ZAPP Soft Shot with a drop shot hook, then recreated with a best balance in "Zero Inch-Wacky." By setting a worm and a weight much closer than regular inch wacky, a natural micro-vibrating action was achieved with less travel distance. It's quite effective even in tough conditions. The hook wouldn't fall at the bottom. The eye, known for the ability to slip through structures, and the location of a weight keeps a superior balance to prevent tangling with structures so much better.

We worked hardest on the wire guard to add balance between protecting capacity and hooking.

Choosing RYUGI's finesse hook "Fog Shot TC" well-known for the best hooking and strength.

We explored the location of a weight that creates micro vibration and prevents the hook's falling sideways. This made the astonishing ability possible to avoid tangling with weeds.
